

Farmers, School Kids Appreciate Yesterday's Big Snowfall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio today was wrapped in a blanket of snow. Farmers and some school children reveled in it while city residents and those who travel the highways were not as gay about the white stuff. To the farmer, it meant needed moisture for parched lands to some school pupils it meant an unscheduled vacation. Ohio and the entire eastern half of the nation got the big snowfall which came from a storm which developed in the Southwest and moved northeastward toward the Atlantic coast. The Weather Bureau said 8 1/2 inches fell yesterday in Cincinnati, 7 in Wilmington, 6 in Dayton, 5 in Zanesville, Toledo, Columbus and Mansfield, 4 in Findlay, 3 in Youngstown and Cleveland and 2 in Akron. State highway patrolmen said highways were "snow covered and slippery for the most part. We are trying to discourage all traffic." The Weatherman indicated today in his five-day forecast that winter would hang on for a while. His prediction: Temperatures will average 3 to 6 degrees below normal, normal high 35-41; normal low 20-24.

Cold over weekend, warmer Monday and colder Tuesday, snow likely Monday or Tuesday. The Ohio highway department reported roads generally slippery north of a line marked by Bryan, Tiffin, Wooster and Youngstown. Most highways south of this line were reported slippery in spots. State highway crews and city street departments were in the midst of the job of cutting ribbons into the blanket of snow. It was a welcome blanket for school children, especially in the southern part of the state. County schools in many areas were recessed until Monday.

The weatherman forecast occasional snow flurries for the east and north portions of Ohio today. Cincinnati's 8 1/2 inches of snow was the heaviest in five years and the sixth deepest in a 24 hour period on record. Middletown had a record 8.2 inches of snow. Seven inches fell in Wilmington in 11 hours. Snow fell during the night and morning from the lower Great Lakes region eastward to the Mid-Atlantic states southward as far as West Virginia and Maryland. Early reports indicated fairly heavy falls, with 4 inches reported in Baltimore and 3 inches in Philadelphia. The storm headed into New York and New England. Snow measured up to 10 inches in some areas hit by the mid-January storm yesterday. The storm center, weakening as it moved from the Gulf northeastward along the western slopes of the Appalachians, dumped snow over most of the Ohio Valley and the Mid-Atlantic states. There was rain, sleet or freezing rain in the Carolinas and Virginia. Traffic was disrupted in many cities and driving conditions were hazardous on highways. But to farmers in areas where there has been little precipitation this winter the snow was hailed as welcome relief to dry farm lands. In Texas, a state official described the snow as worth "millions and millions" to farmers suffering from winter drought. In St. Louis, where there had not been measurable precipitation in 47 days, the longest drought in the area's history, snow measured more than 2 inches. Four deaths were attributed to the storm in Missouri. In Southern Illinois, where lands also were in need of moisture, the fall was to a depth of 8 inches in some places. Snow diminished over most of the mid-continent during the night with only flurries reported this morning across the upper Great Lakes, parts of the Ohio Valley and the Northern Plains. A belt of rain and snow extended from the Central Plateau region to the west slopes of the Rockies. Light rain fell in the Pacific Northwest.

Colder air spread south and eastward yesterday in the wake of the storm and temperatures dropped 10 to 20 degrees, into the 30s and 40s, in the Southeast. In Charlotte, N. C., the drop was from 61 to 38. Meanwhile, readings moderated in Texas and the Western Plains. It was generally cold east of the Rockies today except in Florida and Southeastern states and southern parts of the Gulf states. Coldest region again today was the Northern Plains with more below zero readings. It was -19 in Minot, N. D.

Cloudy, Cold
Cloudy and cold with snow flurries tonight and mostly over north Saturday. Low tonight, 15-25. Yesterday's high, 35; low, 24. High a year ago, 28; low, 24. Temperature at 8 a. m., 25.

Israel Given Stern Warning

U. N. Council Censures Nation For Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Israel was under stern notice today that the U. N. Security Council may use its powers of punishment against her if the Israelis continue attacks across their Arab neighbors' frontiers. The warning came in a Western-sponsored resolution the 11-nation council adopted unanimously here late yesterday. The resolution condemned the Israeli attack Dec. 11 on Syrian outposts northeast of the Sea of Galilee as a "flagrant violation" of the Palestine armistice and Israel's U. N. Charter obligations. It said if Israel ignored its obligations in the future, the council will have to consider "further measures under the charter." The charter empowers the council to punish an aggressor with a diplomatic boycott, economic blockade or even military action, and to call for expulsion from the U. N. of any country that consistently violates the charter.

ISRAELI DELEGATE Abba Eban told the council he feared the resolution would be interpreted as endorsement of Arab belligerency toward Israel. Israel contends the attack was in retaliation for Syrian shelling of Israeli boats on Galilee, which lies just inside Israel's territory. The resolution noted Syrian "interference" with the Israeli activity on the lake but said "this interference in no way justifies the Israeli action." Fifty-six Syrians and six Israelis were killed in the raid; Israel has reported only several persons wounded as a result of the Syrian shelling. It was the fourth council censure of a big Israeli border raid, but the first to warn of possible future penalties. The U. N. body has never censured an Arab country for frontier military actions, although Israel has complained of hundreds of Arab "violations."

County Farmers Buy More Water

One-Sixth Of Last Year's Amount Bought In First Half Of January

Pickaway County farmers, during the first half of this month, purchased approximately one-sixth of the total amount of water brought from the city water department in all of last year. This was revealed today by Ervin Leist, city public utilities manager. He said that 16,000 gallons of water were bought during the first half of January, while 96,500 gallons were purchased in 1955. These figures were disclosed while The Herald was checking rumors that county farmers were becoming increasingly hard pressed for water. Leist noted that most of the purchasers were from areas east and south of here. "Geology surveys show that in

'Collision' Claim Probed By Air Chiefs

CLEVELAND (AP)—Reports of a near collision between two airliners over Cleveland Hopkins Airport were under investigation today by airline and Civil Aeronautics Administration officials. Said to be involved last night were a United Air Lines DC6 coming in from New York and bound for Los Angeles and a Capital Airlines Viscount bound here from Washington.

The DC6, carrying 54 passengers was piloted by Capt. A. R. Kidder of Chicago. Capt. C. S. Babylon was pilot of the Viscount, which had 18 passengers. A CAA spokesman who declined to be quoted by name said both planes were waiting to land when the pilot of one of the planes apparently thought he was too close to the other and made a sudden drop to avoid a collision. In so doing his plane came close to the other plane, it was reported. Both planes later landed safely.

The spokesman pointed out that lights sometimes play tricks when snow is falling. Both planes were using beacons, navigation lights and collision lights. Visibility at the time was three miles and the ceiling was 600 feet. A spokesman for Capital said he did not think there had been danger of a collision.

G. D. Logan, United Air Lines official, said his pilot had not reported any danger of an air collision to him.

Renewed Plan On Shop Area To Be Outlined

Zoning Commission To Get Petition; Hearing Due Later

Circleville's Zoning and Planning Commission will meet at 8 p. m. tonight to hear details of a renewed plan for a shopping center immediately north of Hargus Creek. Spokesmen for the Columbus real estate firm of Stewart and Neff were expected here to outline the new plan. A similar plan, aimed at an area immediately north of the creek and east of N. Court St., was turned down by the planning body last year. However, it was emphasized that new features and revisions may be embodied in the plan now being advanced, even though the location is the same. Rejection of the original plan last year came in the form of a recommendation against a plea for rezoning. Property owners asked that the area be changed from residential to commercial, with the understanding that a shopping center would then be built in that spot.

Big Ship Rams Radar Sea Tower

BOSTON (AP)—A ship crashed into the Texas Tower 100 miles off Cape Cod, first off-shore radar "island," today and was damaged. The vessel was identified by the Coast Guard as the transport Sagitta of the Military Sea Transport Service, a 269-foot vessel. Her starboard side crashed into the tower, tearing a hole in tanks in her No. 2 hold. She was reportedly making water rapidly and listing to starboard. The tower did not appear to be seriously damaged.

5 STATES JOIN SEARCH FOR 'MAD DOG KILLER'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On a long-embattled front, Southern legislators strengthened their picket lines today in their fight to maintain segregation. The loudest Rebel cry from Virginia to Mississippi came in a defiant resolution from Alabama. The Legislature there declared yesterday that Alabama is not bound by the racial rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court, and it pressed hard upon other Southern states to subscribe to the doctrine of interposition. The Alabama Senate approved the resolution in a resounding vote by voice. In the House, only four members dissented when the measure passed Tuesday.

In Mississippi, the House Judiciary Committee approved a bill which would create a new anti-integration weapon for use against federal officials. The purpose of the bill is to keep federal officials from interfering with the rights of Mississippians as guaranteed by their states constitution, particularly regarding voting habits. The maximum penalty for violation would be a $3,000 fine and five years in prison and it would allow a damage suit by the injured party. Two other segregation measures were also approved by the Mississippi House yesterday. One would extend the laws of criminal libel to cover libel or slander of state governmental institutions; the other seeks to prevent the agitation of lawsuits dealing with integration. The Virginia Senate continued its combative disapproval of the Supreme Court's authority on school segregation. A carefully reworded resolution which offered a compromise plan of interposition was introduced to the Virginia lawmakers yesterday. Like the earlier resolution it re-

California's Growth Tops All States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau said today California is outstripping all other states by a wide margin in population growth. The state was credited with a gain of nearly 2 1/2 million persons between the 1950 census and mid-1955 to give it an estimated population last July of 13,032,000. New York's estimated 16,124,000 was the only one to top it. The 1950 census officially made California the second most populous state, displacing Pennsylvania.

New York and Ohio were the only other states to show increases of over a million persons in the 4 1/2 years following the 1950 census. At mid-1955, the bureau put the nation's continental population at about 164,300,000. That excludes servicemen abroad. Pennsylvania ranked third in total population with 1,159,000 in mid-1955, Illinois was fourth with 9,361,000 and Ohio fifth with 8,966,000.

The bureau said state figures for last July 1, with the percentage of change since 1950, (increases except where preceded by a minus sign) included: Indiana, 4,330,000, 10.1; Kentucky, 3,005,000, 2.0; Michigan, 7,236,000, 13.6; Ohio, 8,966,000, 12.8; Pennsylvania, 1,159,000, 6.3; West Virginia, 2,002,000, -2.

Segregation-Minded South Revives 'Interposition' Idea

placed, it still challenged the high court's authority but departed from the earlier draft by not calling for noncompliance with the court's order banning school segregation. The doctrine of interposition, the conception of which was inspired by the South, is seldom used. Interpositionists hold that states are sovereigns which merely abdicated a limited number of powers to the federal government and that when the federal government exceeds these limitations, a state can interpose its paramount authority and nullify the excess. The Alabama Legislature in its action yesterday became the first to invoke the process of interposition in the current battle against enforced integration. Similar proposals are pending in Georgia and Mississippi, besides the compromise plan in Virginia. The Alabama resolution holds that the high court's antisegregation rulings are "null, void and of no effect" and asserts that Alabama has never given up what it calls its right to maintain separate public institutions for white persons and Negroes. The resolution now goes to Gov. James E. Folsom, who is expected to sign it despite some coolness.

Bombay Riots Continue For Fifth Day

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Looting and shooting continued unabated in riot-torn Bombay today for the fifth successive day. The rioters, mostly of the Maratha race, increasingly vented their fire on Gujarati families. Many of the Gujaratis were frantically trying to flee the city. Bombay State Gov. Harekrishna Mahabab told a meeting of leading citizens the wave of violence is "unparalleled in the history" of Bombay, India's second largest city. The Marathas, about half of Bombay's nearly three million population, are fighting Prime Minister Nehru's plan to take Bombay city away from Bombay state and put it under the federal government. The rest of the state would be split in two, forming one state where the Marathi language is predominant and the other where Gujarati is generally spoken. Official figures, obviously lagging behind the actual casualties, put the death toll at more than 40 since the riots erupted Monday. There was no estimate of the total number of persons injured or arrested. Property damage from burning and looting was great. Authorities were besieged in dozens of towns by demonstrators who demanded the officials resign. At Poona all 50 city councilmen quit after a stone-throwing mob stormed the municipal building.

Jail Escapee Reported Seen In Many Areas

Ohio, Missouri Folk Claim Phantom Stopped Within Last Few Hours
DAYTON (AP)—Ohio police today joined officers from four other states in a grim search for a "mad dog killer" who escaped from an Indiana jail and since has been a phantom being reported seen in wide-separated places. The escapee, Leslie Irvin, escaped while under sentence of death for one slaying and accused of five others. He has been reported seen in nearby Vandalia, in Missouri and in Indiana. Police of Illinois and Indiana were leading the manhunt. The Missouri state highway patrol received a report from a waitress at a restaurant-motel near St. Louis last night that she had recognized a man as Irvin from a television picture she had seen. Early today, a bus depot employee in Rolla, Mo., 110 miles southwest of St. Louis, told the patrol she had seen there a man closely fitting Irvin's description. The most concentrated search was being conducted in the Evansville, Ind., area and in nearby sections of Kentucky and Illinois.

Car Sale Race Blamed For Auto Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said today the "white-hot race" for auto sales supremacy between Chevrolet and Ford caused "many of the troubles now plaguing the auto industry and its dealers." The senator made this comment as the Commerce subcommittee on automobile marketing he heads scheduled its second hearing on charges of abuses in car selling practices. Monroney said that in talking to car dealers privately in preparation for his hearings, he had found many who blamed the Chevrolet-Ford contest for abuses. After Chevrolet had held the lead in industry sales for about two decades, it was challenged heavily by Ford in 1954. The outcome was so close both sides claimed victory, using different figures. The Oklahoma senator said it appeared to him that the race contributed to car "bootlegging," or discount sales by regular dealers to nonfranchised dealers. Monroney cited the case of an Oklahoma dealer who, he said, received a letter from his zone manager berating him because a competitor finished ahead of him in sales for one month. He said: "I have seen that letter, and it's the kind that shouldn't have been written to a dog."

Firemen Oppose Boost In Pay

Jail Escapee Reported Seen In Many Areas

iff's office here said Irvin was reported seen in a Vandalia motel-restaurant about 1:20 a. m. today.

Five persons told sheriff's deputies that two men entered the Autotel Motel for coffee and left shortly afterwards. The five said they recognized Irvin as one of the pair from newspaper pictures.

The state highway patrol put out a statewide alert after an unidentified man reported he was robbed just outside of Dayton at 2:40 a. m. by two men traveling in a green automobile. The victim told authorities the car bore Illinois license plates.

The patrol said it had a report from Indiana police that Irvin and another man were reported to have stolen a vehicle fitting this description.

MEANWHILE, Evansville law officers and witnesses in Irvin's murder trial were given police guards as they hunted the 31-year-old former pipefitter.

Irvin, convicted of killing an Evansville man and also charged with killing two Indiana women and three members of a Kentucky family, had been scheduled for transfer Monday to the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City to await execution June 12.

Irvin, held in jail in Princeton, Ind., during the appeal period which followed his conviction and sentencing in Gibson Circuit Court, was missing at breakfast time Thursday.

Four jail doors had been either unlocked or locks picked. Sheriff Earl Hollen said, "There had to be some outside help," adding one man could not have opened the doors himself from the inside.

Irvin was described as a stocky 200-pounder, 5 feet 11 inches tall, with dark brown wavy hair, brown eyes and ruddy complexion. When he left the jail he was wearing a dark blue suit and gray overcoat and was bareheaded.

Only Irvin's cellmate Lawrence Bryant, 57, Palestine, Ill., awaiting trial for a triple killing, saw him escape.

Bryant insisted he knew nothing about the escape, but he later told Sheriff Hollen he saw Irvin dress and leave the cell between 10 and 11 p. m. Wednesday. Bryant said he saw no accomplices and did not know how Irvin managed to unlock the doors.

Prosecutor Paul B. Weaver, who directed the prosecution that brought the death penalty for Irvin, wore a 38-caliber pistol and said, "I'm taking no chances. Irvin's mind doesn't work like other people's."

Accused Pleads Innocent In Fire

At an arraignment hearing held Thursday in Common Pleas Court, Charles Wolfe pleaded innocent to burning property of another.

Wolfe was indicted by the Pickaway Grand Jury on an accusation growing out of the burning of a freight car during a labor dispute here last fall.

Bond was set at $2,500. Luther Chaffin, indicted on the same charge, also pleaded innocent at an earlier hearing.

Hillsboro Girl Wins Battle For Railroad Crossing Safety

COLUMBUS (U. S. — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio today ordered flasher lights installed at the scene of a fatal train-car crash that caused a little girl to appeal to President Eisenhower.

The father of nine-year-old Pamela Sue Huff of near Hillsboro lost his life at the New York Central Railroad double track crossing over Sellers Road near Moraine in the Dayton area.

An attorney examiner for the commission, Lewis S. Witherspoon, had recommended both flasher lights and short arm gates, at an estimated cost of $19,889. Flasher lights alone would cost $1,200.

Pamela's father, James W. Huff, died in the accident Dec. 12, 1954. He was returning home from work at a plant near the crossing.

Pamela wrote the President the following April. The letter was referred to the Interstate Commerce Commission which, in turn, passed it on to the PUCO.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Safety During Meeting

"Safety is a way of life and a hard thing to sell to the public," Rotarians were told at their regular weekly meeting Thursday.

These remarks were made by George McBride, who works in the safety department of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company. The title of his talk was "Let's Talk Safety."

McBride said that the best way to avoid accidents is to take time to perform a job and to always be careful. He noted that many accidents take place in traffic; "if the driver takes his time and considers other drivers, his chances of becoming involved in an accident will be negligible."

He stated that preventing injuries is not an easy thing to do. He explained that grownups could do a lot more in the way of safety to prolong their lives.

"THERE ARE three main items regarding accidents which are important," McBride said. "First, there is nothing spectacular about safety, as publicity is not given when no accidents take place."

"Second, people are willing to take chances and gamble that they will not have an accident. Third, the last thing to consider is that the law of averages eventually catches up with the person who thinks that an accident cannot happen to him."

McBride concluded that every person should have a self-interest in safety in which a reward is expected. He explained that "taking time to play safe and avoid accidents is a reward which is quite worth while."

Elected at the recent meeting for three-year terms were: John Bowers and Ray Friend, Miller Fissell was reelected for a three-year term. Louis Wuest was returned for another one-year term.

During the meeting, plans for a swimming pool were presented to the members. These were discussed but no definite action was taken.

Winners of various events were presented trophies during the session.

TOM EVELAND, county champion in the men's division received a trophy and Mrs. Betsy Eschelman, winner in the women's group, was also awarded a trophy. Other winners included:

Men: Austin Woodward, Dwight Steele, Willard Timmons, Herb Eschelman, Frank LeRoy, Jack LeRoy, Don Onley, Joe Bell, and Louis Wuest.

Women: Mrs. Mary Carpenter, Mrs. Maxine LeRoy, Mrs. Virgie Van Camp, Mrs. Edith Gordon, Mrs. Bernice Senti, Miss Diane Mason, Mrs. Frances Chelkowski, and the family award went to Mr. and Mrs. Doug Carpenter.

President Dwight Steele, who presided over the gathering, presented Alex Antonio, a golf pro who has been hired to manage the local Country Club.

Congress May Study Setup If President Incapacitated

WASHINGTON (U. S. — Several senators agreed with President Eisenhower today that Congress should look into the question of who is to decide whether a President is unable to perform his duties.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said the Constitution and the laws contain a gap which "might sometime rise up to cause confusion and uncertainty," and he added: "The best time to act is when we do not have that kind of situation before us, and I favor Congress working out some kind of satisfactory solution."

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said he considers it "desirable to see if we can't find a satisfactory solution," and Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) agreed "it's a question that ought to be studied."

At his news conference yesterday, Eisenhower was asked if he had given any thought to the Constitution's silence on the question of who should declare a president unable to perform his duties.

HE SAID the subject should be carefully studied by Congress and the attorney general, adding it would be good for the country to work out the matter so that doubts would be resolved.

Legislation to this end has been introduced in the Senate and the House, but no hearings held.

Sen. Payne (R-Maine) has offered a bill under which a President if he felt physically unable to discharge his duties properly would notify Congress.

The vice president then would assume the presidency's powers and duties, but not the title, until the President notified Congress he was able to assume them again.

If a President were unconscious or paralyzed and therefore unable to notify Congress of his disability, Payne's bill provides that the vice president shall advise the chief justice.

Then the chief justice would be required to appoint a panel of three to five doctors, each of whom would examine the President and submit a report. If they all concluded the President was unable to perform his duties, the chief justice would notify Congress and the vice president would take over.

PAUL'S

111 W. MAIN

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Paul and I are an average suburban couple with two pre-school children. We love each other very much but finances threaten me (at least) with nervous breakdown.

We went into debt to get married. Paul was still in school and I had a job to support us. Later we received a legacy with which we paid off a pile of debts and bought some furniture. Now Paul has a salary of eight thousand a year, but we can't make it stretch from pay day to pay day. We have no savings to tide us over, and nearly always have to borrow.

Paul needs new clothes but we can't afford them; and he won't use a charge account or let me have one. We don't spend foolishly; the children get most of their clothes and toys from relatives; and most of my clothes come from relatives and friends too. This irks me, as most of the donors don't make as much as Paul.

How To Save?

We work together on household accounts and can't see why we fall short, or why we can't save. We are buying a car and a TV set. Utility bills are pretty high and transportation is a big item. We carry hefty insurance, but not excessive for a man in Paul's job. Rent and food costs are moderate, but in cutting corners, we can only pare the food and milk bills, which takes some of the joy out of living.

I tell Paul we should take out for savings on pay day, and make ourselves do on the balance. He says we wouldn't be living at all that way. I want to join the Bond-a-Month plan at the bank; but Paul says it's too hard to cash the bond in case of need. I am eager to own a home, but it looks farther away each month. And I live in dread of a financial emergency which would mean going into debt still more.

Paul says "We'll make out; we always have." But we've spent most of our married life in debt, paying heavily to finance companies, and I don't want to go through that again. I am getting to be a nervous crabby old witch, and will crack up if the suspense continues.

H. P.

DEAR H. P.: In condensing your letter, I've omitted two significant points: 1. Your parents were hard hit during depression years and the family had to go on relief for a while. Whereas Paul's family was prosperous and doesn't know what it means to be on public relief. 2. Lately you've urged Paul to get expert advice on budgeting, but he rejects the idea that theorists could help you.

The first point sheds light on the hysterical force of your concern to get your finances under control. It also suggests why Paul is less frightened and undisciplined about money, I think. The second point, namely, Paul's refusal to study the meaning of the monthly deficit with a budget-planner, suggests that he fears (unconsciously) that he is at fault, in the poor showing made.

Now for a third point: You say I want to join a Bond-a-Month plan at the bank, but Paul says it's too hard to cash the bond in case of need. According to my knowledge of the plan, such a bond may be cashed (after 30 days) as readily as if it were a check. So Paul is speaking in ignorance, apparently; and I advise you to ask the bank how the plan operates.

Worth of Dollar

As for the X-factor in your situation, that keeps you in debt from pay day to pay day, it consists in not knowing the worth of a dollar today. You and Paul seem to think eight thousand a year is big money, and foolishly live beyond your means, therefore. Actually this figure is a good income today only if one lives very frugally—as a thrifty middle class family might have lived on, say, three thousand a year, 20 years ago.

It seems that Paul rules the purse, and that he spends somewhat in the spirit of a fool at the country fair. He just spends while the money lasts—without foresight of plan, that takes account of the morrow.

His financial instability is a failure in character, so far. He isn't accepting the responsibility that in reality is his—to "get down to cases" in managing money, so as to provide marginal security for his household. He is dependent upon chance to keep him afloat; also upon family and you, in a pinch, I take it. And you are similarly dependent, looking to him for magic security. In helping him through school, you hoped you were investing in your future fortune, I suppose. In the final assessment, both of you need a bit of psychiatric help, to come of age in facing life.

"An Evening With General Electric" was the theme for the evening's program of the Senior EMS meeting. Tom Vaughn showed a movie, "The Magic of Fluorescence". There was a business meeting, during which the club discussed plans for the EMS assembly.

The first semester examinations are over and the second semester has begun. Some new subjects are replacing old ones.

In industrial arts, drawing pupils go to other instructors, being replaced by woodworking or metal working pupils of the first semester. Algebra II is finished for another year, with trigonometry taking its place this semester.

Psychology is finished and new classes of the same students have started sociology. Six classes of freshman guidance and hygiene have traded pupils for the new semester.

One large group of 54 driver training students finished the course this semester. They have enrolled the second semester in some of the half-unit classes offered in the Circleville High School's very broad curriculum of approximately 60 individual different courses.

A new group of 60 pupils is beginning driver training this semester under Alfred Gabriel's guidance and instruction.

Businessmen Wonder About U. S. Economy

Washington's Latest Mortgage Credit View Is Discussion Topic

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Easing of federal restraint on mortgage credit—and a spirited drive to reverse the tight money policy aimed at discouraging installment buying—has businessmen wondering today if Washington is changing its thinking on the state of the economy.

A few months ago the big bogey in the administration's mind was the fear that inflation might threaten again—in other words, that the business boom might get going too fast.

This week's actions—and talk—have businessmen wondering if Washington is now more worried about the chance that business may be at or past the peak.

There are suspicions that the Federal Reserve Board is shifting from its policy of active restraint on credit to a milder form called just restraint. The board, many thought, would hike its interest rates again at the start of the year. It hasn't. And New York bankers say the money supply may get a little easier soon.

The two spots in the economy where a downturn is now apparent are: Auto production and sales, and home building.

The Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration have taken note of the drop in home building and canceled part of the restraints on credit they ordered last July. The agencies again will permit 30-year mortgages instead of a 25-year limit, as decreed last summer. They eased up on the reins just when builders gathered in the capital to predict a 7 per cent cutback in home building because of tight money.

On the auto front, Harlow H. Curdick, president of General Motors, has protested against the credit curbs imposed by Federal Reserve policy. He blames the tight credit situation as a chief cause for the prospects that the auto industry won't sell as many cars this year.

Businessmen don't discount the roles played by housing and auto production in boosting industrial output to its high level. About one fourth of the steel production has been going into cars. And nearly a million workers contribute to the making of the nation's cars and parts. Some of them already have been laid off.

Home building has been the other big "extra" that has been boosting business in general to its present high level. But applications for federal mortgage financing have dropped sharply in recent weeks. Since it takes some time for these applications to result in actual starting of new homes, the builders foresee a slump coming in the spring. And to forestall this may be why the 30-year mortgages were reinstated.

The FHA also is asking Congress to liberalize the terms under which the federal agency insures loans for home repairs and improvements. The government men think this sort of spending could increase this year to 14 billion dollars, a 25 per cent gain over last year—and a new prop to the economy, if any should be needed.

Thinking along this line is far unanimous, however. Fears of a reaction from the great expansion of consumer credit in the last year

CIO Council's Strike Claim Hit By Police

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio CIO Council said today sheriff's deputies and police "swooped down" on strikers during the Jan. 3 mass demonstration at the Columbus Westinghouse plant and "started swinging clubs and fists the minute they arrived on the scene."

The accusation was made in the council's weekly newsletter, "News and Views."

Franklin County Sheriff Ralph J. Paul, whose deputies were on the scene, said of the union's statements: "I've been reading trash for two weeks in their papers." He had no other comment.

Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer commented: "Police did nothing to be ashamed of" in the demonstration.

The newsletter said members of the striking International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) reported that:

"The officers charged them, swinging clubs, pulling revolvers in two instances, cursing and beating the workers, knocking them to the ground and beating them while they were down."

Hearings for the 88, along with four officers of Local 746, IUE, will be resumed Monday in Common Pleas Court here. All are charged by Westinghouse with violating a Dec. 1 court restraining order limiting pickets to six at each plant gate and prohibiting violence.

Deputy Sheriff John S. DeVault told police Thursday his personal car had been damaged after he testified earlier in the hearings.

The strike here, involving some 4,300 IUE members, is part of the three-month long, violence-ridden walkout by 54,500 Westinghouse workers in 40 plants across the country.

Quality Of Sunday School Is Stressed

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Methodist Church's General Board of Education has been told that three "great imperatives" are to improve the quality of teaching in Sunday schools, increase the number of persons being reached by teaching and increase the number of local church schools.

The Rev. Walter Townner of Nashville, Tenn., director of the board's Department of General Church School Work, told the board session here that the church is not sufficiently conscious of its opportunity in the Sunday church school.

MILLIONS FROM METERS

WHEN YOU PUT a coin in a parking meter, willingly or not, in your small way you are contributing to a practice which has become nationwide, and each year puts $76,000,000 in the coffers of more than 2,800 cities.

According to the latest survey there are 1,113,000 of the devices in operation, and more being installed every week. Meters are in operation in only 16 per cent of the urban districts. When the other 84 per cent is equipped the returns will be tremendous.

In the meantime parking meters have not been generally accepted by motorists. Some people still hold to the theory that public streets belong to the people, to be used as they see fit. If they want to park their cars there, without let or hindrance, it is their right.

This claim defeats itself as a matter of fact. If the streets do belong to the people then it follows everybody has a right to use them. Not just those who get there first, and leave their cars indefinitely.

Meters have become permanent fixtures in the regulation of traffic so far as it concerns parking. Eventually they will probably be in use throughout the nation. No community of size will be without them. Millions of dollars will be made available for traffic and safety regulation. The need, then, will be to use this money intelligently, to the benefit of all concerned.

CONFUSION OF TONGUES

A SURVEY discloses that Russian language courses in 183 American colleges now draw only 5,000 students, a drop of 35 per cent since 1950.

This is laid by some observers to fear, not disinterest. Language professors say many students are obsessed by the thought that their pursuit of the Slavic tongue might lay them open to the charge of subversion. The professors are concerned about that. They think a thorough knowledge of Russian would be of inestimable value to young folks destined for the government service. It would be one prop to national security.

It would be fine if many thousands of Americans knew Russian. To broaden that thesis out a bit, it would be better if the majority of Americans were familiar with one or several alien tongues. As a people Americans have not overcome their insularism. The United States is almost lary to the point of becoming bilingual or unique among the great nations in that respect.

A wider familiarity with Spanish would be a good starting point. One of the definite national assignments is to develop a greater community of interests with Latin America. The best approach to neighborliness is the ability to converse with neighbors.

Those who refer to flu epidemics as mild have never been laid low by that wretched germ.

These Days

All day long I wait for needles. They stick me early; they stick me late. In the mathematics of medicine, needles play a primary role. They take blood out of you and put blood in. They test and check and presumably the day does come when one gets well and there are no more needles.

I serenely watch how a needle-pusher looks for just the right spot and there are gradations of sticks. Sometimes the operation is absolutely painless and at other times, it feels as though someone is just trying to get even. A three-phase push is a warning of pain to come.

Well, a fellow can get used to most anything and lying on a bed for hours is a novelty for me. I have slept little in my life, fewer hours perhaps than Thomas Edison. It seemed so wasteful just to sleep when there is so much to do and so much to know. Now, they tell me that sleep is the cure-all, that nothing does as much good as sleep.

Hospitals do not, as most of us do not, coordinate thought and action. If sleep is the great cure-all, why don't they let you sleep? So at about 6 a. m., in comes somebody to take your temperature. The theory is that the patient will go back to sleep. But he is awake.

He wants to know what's going on in the world. And he dare not go to sleep, lest the needle-gal come around to stick him. So you wait or the needle-gal. If some crazy doctor decided to make you fast until after the needle-gal got you, you go hungry.

That is bad coordination because when I am hungry, I am ill-tempered and here I am supposed to be serene like Grace Kelly will be when she marries Grimaldi, but how can you be serene on an empty stomach, waiting for a gal to stick a needle into you?

Now if that is not an earth-shaking problem, I do not know what is. Maybe it is Herbert Hoover's suggestion that we get a second, appointed Vice President to do the President's work while the President goes in for ceremonies, occasions, events and speeches. I am not too enthusiastic about this suggestion of Mr. Hoover's.

The Mayor of the Palace idea is pretty old in human history and it usually ends the same way: No. 1 peters down into a fun-loving lazy-bones who does nothing, while No. 2 becomes the boss but has no lawful responsibility. Charles Martel (714-741) came to power that way and in Japan the Shogun system operated for several centuries, the Mikado being just a poor ceremonial creature, virtually the prisoner of the Shogun.

Mr. Hoover knows all about that but he is undoubtedly trying to help his friend, Ike Eisenhower, out of a bad spot. The truth is that Eisenhower always managed to have someone do his work for him as any General in the Army does. Sherman Adams has been an excellent Top Sergeant and the proof of the pudding lies in the fact that the show continues to be on the road, come what may. So we might as well elect Sherman Adams President or go on as we are with Ike to make us happy and Sherm to get the work done.

SYNOPSIS

This is a story of love and conflict between a family and the medical profession. It is the story of Linda Thornton, the doctor's daughter, who married a man who was a doctor. Linda's memories date from her tenth wedding anniversary, an occasion for her being made sharply aware of the disappointment felt by her parents-in-law because she is childless. The Thorntons—old Jasper and his wife, Seretha—live in a small, old-fashioned house in Valhalla, Mo. Their hopes center in Alan, who is a surgeon-in-charge at the Thornton-built local hospital, because their other son, John, left home under a cloud. Alan and Linda live at the family estate, Fiddlers Green, as do Alan's widowed sister, Margaret; her young twin, Jim and Ann; Seretha's brother, Arthur; and his wife, Flora. Margaret has an older son, Silas, who is away in the Army.

Alan phones Linda that Miss Little Mae, Arthur's fiancée, is at his hospital with a fractured hip, and a 75-mile trip for an emergency operation will delay his arrival at the tenth wedding anniversary dinner party. Linda spies Margaret at her cottage in an embrace with a young captain, Blake Learning, that Blake will attend the party. Seretha remarks that he doesn't always remember he has a daughter. "Nor, I'm afraid, does my daughter."

CHAPTER SEVEN

STARTLED, Linda jerked so that the little purple case with the gold beads slipped from her lap. She bent over to retrieve it, reflecting ruefully that she might have been prepared. Seretha had a way of knowing everything, almost before those things took place.

She straightened, and stood up, murmuring about its getting late, but her mother-in-law was not finished.

"Margaret," she declared in her thin, icy voice, "has always been a fool. She doesn't gain wisdom with years, either. I am glad to hear that she did not ask you to invite Captain Blake. But in any case, I am afraid she may bring scandal upon us, with her open infatuation for the man. She's entirely without shame."

Linda looked down at the old gentleman in the gray and white toile chair. "If she loves him," she asked curiously, "don't you feel sorry for her?"

Seretha's white head tossed in disdain. "I feel sorry for the family! Why, Margaret has absolutely no finesse, Linda. She couldn't handle an affair!"

In shocked revulsion, Linda turned away.

"What Mae wishes to tell you, Linda," boomed Jasper's big voice from the open door into his dressing room, "if she would but speak the truth without fiddle or farce, is that adultery is only a sin when publicly discovered."

Mae sniffed, and Linda, still shocked yet somehow amused, too, by Jasper's frankness, went swiftly over to the old man, both to hide her smile, and to fix his tie.

He patted her arm. "Thank you, Linda," he said warmly. "We may not say it often, but we all depend on you."

She flashed him a smile, said something about needing to dress and was up in her bedroom before she remembered that she had left the gold beads behind. Well, she could get them later; she wouldn't wear them tonight. Though what she would wear was now a matter for immediate decision.

The ice-blue satin was out. She did not want to appear in it without the jacket; she had never openly defied Mae, and this did not seem a point important enough to justify defiance now. Yet she would not be told.

She selected a flower-spashed taffeta skirt, and a black sweater-blouse, slipping off her shoulders, the sleeves tight to her wrists. She looped several strings of fake pearls around her throat, and twisted a long strand into many rows upon her left forearm. A rose-red length of satin made a cummerbund about her waist. Mae would say, again, that a redhead should never wear the color.

Completely dressed, she laid out Alan's things. She hoped he would come home in time to bathe and change, to get that much rest! At the head of the stairs she met Clew. "I was comin' to help you," the old Negro panted. "Mae said—"

"Am I late?" Linda knew that she was not. It still was twenty minutes before the set hour.

"No'm," said Clew. "But she said—"

Linda nodded. "I know. I'm going right down."

"Yes'm." The maid went along the hall to the back stairs. So Mae had publicly sent her up to "help Miss Linda." It was one of Mae's many little disciplinary measures.

Head up, her eyes glowing, she swept on down the stairs and greeted those of the family who already were assembled under the crystal chandelier of the "big" parlor. Mae and Jasper—Margaret, came-pretty in blue-green, and the twins, scrubbed and brushed with-upon an inch of their young lives, as uncomfortable as they looked, seated primly side by side upon the brocade loveseat.

Before she could more than greet each one, Uncle Arthur and Aunt Flora came in. Uncle Arthur looked more spidery than ever in his high collar and old-fashioned tails, and Aunt Flora was "wearing" everything she could lay hands to. Jasper chuckled to Linda, "Includin' the crew's washin' and the cook's mop."

"Hush!" she rebuked him.

"Why should I hush?" asked the old man, his green eyes twinkling. "I feel a talkative evenin' comin' on me, Linda."

"Heaven help us!" she breathed, then turned to say something about Aunt Flora's pretty dress. The old lady's hair had been freshly curled.

"Look like you slept on a flut'n' iron," shouted Jasper.

Linda choked down her laughter and regarded her father-in-law with new respect. How had he lived beside Mae for more than forty years, and still maintained his manner of irrepressible mischief? That alone made Jasper Thornton a man!

The guests began to arrive, and now Alan's voice was heard out in the hall. "Hold it ten minutes . . . and would have gone to him, but Uncle Arthur stepped between her and the wide doorway. "I'll go help the boy," he offered.

There was really nothing Linda could have done, for Alan's clothes were laid out and ready. And she had her duties downstairs—But she would so much have liked a minute with Alan . . .

All Uncle Arthur did for Alan was to get in the way, but Alan put up with the old man's fumbling, talked to him with interest while he showered and shaved and began to dress. "Raining hard," he called, "had to watch the hills. Linda mad?"

"Linda never gets angry," Uncle Arthur informed Linda's husband. "Don't count on that," chuckled Alan. "Red hair, y'know." He waited for the old man to step out of the doorway.

"You go by the hospital on your way home?" asked Uncle Arthur, watching Alan tilt his head to knot his tie and complete the bow.

"Oh, no. Why?"

"I—"

Alan turned to look at him, sharply. "You have something on your mind," he accused. "Might as well get it said. We haven't much time." He reached for his trousers.

"I—I wanted to inquire about Mrs. Liddell," said Uncle Arthur primly.

"Miss Little Mae? I imagine she's all right. We'll find out tonight."

"Oh, please don't mention—I mean Flora—well, it wouldn't do to bring up the subject, Alan," Uncle Arthur's porcelain cheeks were pink, his hands trembling against his black coat.

Alan laughed. "Is your interest in the lady catching up with you?" he teased.

"Her accident has somewhat complicated things," Arthur Merritt replied with dignity. "A very estimable lady, of course," he added, his voice breaking and quavering.

"At least estimable."

"I was ready to terminate the affair—but it's always difficult you know. I mean, when a lady has been enjoying a man's attention and favor—"

"Yeah," agreed Alan gravely. "It's a delicate move. I always think the best way is to be kind. Not interested any more, or generous—but just kind. It gets the ladies, Uncle Arthur. 'Gets 'em every time—kindness. You try that."

Uncle Arthur's faded eyes stared at his nephew.

Alan started for the door, winding his watch.

"Wait a minute!"

"Can't. We're late as it is."

"Yes, but I want to find out how a boy like you knows so much! Have you had enough experience . . .?" He sounded and looked startled, and somewhat outraged. Affairs, evidently were not for "boys."

Alan chuckled, and pushed the old man through the door ahead of him. "I don't need the experience you have in mind," he said. "But a doctor, Uncle, looks on at a lot of life, and gets a lot of experience second-hand." They started down the wide stairs. "A goo' thing, too, because I don't have the time, really, for personal investigations."

Dangerous Eye Disease Strikes Over-40 Group

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

GLAUCOMA, a most dangerous eye disease, usually can be halted by early treatment.

There are about 320,000 blind persons in this country. Of this number, one out of every eight is a victim of glaucoma. And once sight is destroyed by glaucoma, it is gone for good.

Increased Pressure

With glaucoma, increased fluid pressure building up inside the eye slowly damages the nerves. Side vision usually goes first since the pressure strikes the fibers in the retina before damaging the central vision.

Primarily, glaucoma is a disease of the middle-aged and the elderly. It is most apt to strike you if you are over 40.

How can you protect yourself from this disease? The best way is to have your eyes examined thoroughly at least once every two years if you are 40 or older.

Cloudy Vision

While acute glaucoma usually strikes suddenly with sharp pain around the eyes and cloudy vision, the slowly creeping chronic type is much more common. Chronic glaucoma often produces some of the following symptoms:

Frequent changes of glasses; loss of side vision, blurred or foggy vision; inability to adjust the eyes to darkened rooms such as theaters, rainbow-colored rings around lights.

Let me emphasize that these symptoms do not necessarily mean you have glaucoma. Maybe the trouble is much less serious. But you should have a complete eye examination as quickly as possible.

Warning Signals

Don't wait until some of these symptoms develop for that eye check. Glaucoma does not always give warning signals.

Drugs or an operation can usually reduce the eyeball pressure. Eye drops, if your doctor prescribes them, probably will have to be used for the remainder of your life.

Even after an operation or drug treatment, you're going to have to avoid emotional upsets—they might increase the fluid pressure—and you may have to limit television and movie viewing.

If you are a glaucoma victim, don't use belladonna, even if prescribed by your physician, without first checking with your oculist.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. G. P.: My baby had a high temperature and convulsions about four months ago. What is the best way to bring down a fever in order to prevent recurrence of convulsions?

Answer: Of course, you should call a doctor immediately when the baby has a very high temperature.

However, sponging the baby with half alcohol and half water and giving him an enema of cool tap water and small amounts of aspirin will help bring down the temperature until the arrival of the doctor.

NEW YORK (AP)—One of my favorite rebel dreams is to see a waiter at the Ritz spill a plate of soup on a celebrity.

"How often does this happen?" I hopefully asked Steve Terzano, the maitre d'hotel there.

Steve, who has been a high priest to two generations of international gourmets, lifted his eyebrows in horror.

"Never!" he exclaimed indignantly. "It could not happen. At the very worst a waiter might drop a hot plate to the floor. But spill something on a guest? Never! never! never!"

To Steve, who can spot a wrinkle in a napkin at 40 paces, such a thing would be a greater tragedy than the collapse of the Leaning Tower of Pisa. And particularly if it happened while he was on duty. While he is on the job, food is his religion, service is his god.

Except for 28 stomach-searing months in an Austrian prison camp during World War II, Steve, who was born in Italy, has spent the last 47 of his 61 years in Ritz hotels, first in Buenos Aires, then in New York. When the old Ritz was torn down several years ago, he and most of the staff moved up Madison avenue to the new Ritz restaurant in the plush Carlton House.

Steve deplors the hurried habits of today's harried diners, remembers fondly the days when people took their vitamins more leisurely.

"No meal should be eaten in less than an hour," he said firmly, "and it should be accompanied by a good French wine. Then you will live longer."

Many of Steve's longtime guests refuse even to look at the menu. They insist that he select for them, a task he thoroughly enjoys, for to him a good meal is like a table symphony.

What do celebrities like to eat? Here are some favorite dishes of some of the well-known people he has served:

Ronald Amundsen, the explorer—Corned beef hash topped with an egg.

Robert Montgomery and Queen Marie of Romania—Cold chicken with a liver pate.

Former Governor Thomas E. Dewey and George Jessel—Boiled beef.

Gladys Swarthout—Lobster thermidor.

Kate Smith and Tommy Manville—French lamb chops.

Grace Kelly and Wendell Willkie—Chicken hash.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover—Bouillabaisse.

"First, assorted hot canapes a la Ritz with a dry martini," he began dreamily, "followed by some black caviar and a nip of aquavit."

"Next, a cup of petite marmite, a soup made of chicken, beef, beef marrow and fresh vegetables, served with grated cheese and floating pieces of toast."

"Next, the fish, English sole veronique, cooked with white wine and white grapes and accompanied by a Rhine or Moselle wine."

"Next, tender string beans and tournedos gason, a filet mignon with pate, invented by our general manager, Gaston Laurysen, and named in his honor. A good French Bordeaux wine with this, of course."

"Next, a vanilla soufflé with grand marnier liqueur, followed by a glass of champagne."

"Finally, coffee demi-tasse, with green creme de menthe for the ladies and a good French brandy for the gentlemen."

"After a dinner like that, it is to feel like you are in paradise. You will remember it the rest of your life."

What would it cost? Well, buying a dinner like that is like buying a yacht. If you're going to worry about price, you might as well forget the whole thing and order a hamburger.

George Jessel, celebrated after-dinner speaker, had always promised Detroit friends that one day he'd talk to the inmates of the Old Ladies' Hebrew Home there. One day he made good his promise.

He soon had cause to regret his good intentions. The ladies were too old to "dig" his sophisticated patter. Many placidly continued their knitting or rocking; a few even played imaginary cards.

One old lady however, listened beaming, and nodded her head happily every time he made a point. George found himself orating for her benefit alone. When he had finished, the superintendent brought this old lady up to shake his hand.

"Mrs. Mandelbaum thinks you're a fine gentleman," said the superintendent, "and wants you to know this is the first time in ten years she regrets she cannot understand a word of English."

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has given the country plain notice he will never again be quite the man he was before, physically, and that henceforth he must avoid undue fatigue.

Although he says he still hasn't made up his mind on running again this concern about his health has run through everything Eisenhower has told newsmen, even as long ago as last August, before his heart attack.

He said Thursday: "It would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored. My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

While he has decided to let his name stay in any state presidential primary where it may be entered, he practically invited all Republican would-be presidents to get into the state primaries too to give voters a wide choice.

He no doubt meant this as encouragement to all of his party's presidential hopefuls to get active but it may have had the effect of chilling their blood. In almost any state primary against Eisenhower they'd almost certainly lose.

Newsmen who went to his news conference Thursday were not surprised when he left them still guessing on whether he'll run again. He said he hasn't decided and won't for a while.

It was last summer—weeks before his heart attack Sept. 24—that Eisenhower began raising questions about his health when asked about seeking a second term.

In August he spoke about the eroding effect of the presidency on the man in the White House and said, when he had no reason to expect a heart attack, that the state of his health would be a major factor in his decision on running.

That concern about his health appeared in statements he has made since then. He has noted

304 Bushels Corn To Acre; Record Set By Mississippian

CHICAGO (AP)—A Mississippi farm boy, who has no plans to be a farmer, has reaped big rewards for raising a record corn crop on one acre of land.

Lamar Ratliff's bumper crop of 304.38 bushels on his father's farm at Baldwin, Miss., is an all-time high. The average acre of corn yields in the U. S. is about 40 bushels.

Lamar, 16-year-old high school junior, had a simple explanation of how he did it:

"I just worked at it, I reckon. But I had some help from my mule, Dolly."

Lamar, a 4-H club member, and his father Paul were in Chicago for a luncheon in the youth's honor or attended by representatives of hybrid seed corn and farm implement industries.

He was given $1,000 by the Farm Journal to help finance his college education. He also got $500 from a seed corn company. The magazine gave Lamar's father $1,000 to be spent for improvement of equipment for the Ratliff's 170-acre hill farm in northern Mississippi.

IN SETTING THE new record, Lamar exceeded by 63 bushels the previous high corn yield of 241 bushels per acre set in 1954 by A. J. Custer of near Fort Wayne, Ind.

The youth began aiming at high corn yields six years ago in a patch of sandy loam that had seldom produced more than 30 bushels per acre. The first year he grew 179 bushels on one acre and gradually pushed his yield up to 218½ bushels.

In planning for the 1955 crop, Lamar, after planting, cultivating and thinning, had 25,800 stalks in his acre. It was fertilized with 15 tons of manure and 1,500 pounds of commercial plant foods. More than 40 inches of rain fell on the patch during the growing season.

"I think I'd like to be a doctor," Lamar said. "There's no money in farming."

Berea Awaiting Fluoride Gripes

CLEVELAND (AP)—For eight days suburban Berea put fluoride in its water without telling its consumers.

There wasn't a complaint.

Water Supt. Philip Koble announced the move yesterday and said he expects the comments will start coming in now.

There has been one complaint since the announcement, from Ralph Stewart, head of the Christian Science Committee on Publications for the state of Ohio. Stewart said "We are being doctored against our will" and that the church would protest.

that no man has reached 70 in the presidency. He'd be 70 three months before the end of a second term.

He has said the presidency is more wearing than any military assignment he ever had. He told newsmen Jan. 9 he would have to be careful to avoid fatigue. He has emphasized his decision would be based on what is good for the country.

Along that line he has said it is a "very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time that it is unexpected," a statement which could only mean it is critical if a president dies in office or, for health reasons, can't carry on with his job.

Sokolsky's These Days

I should imagine that that is what will happen because when some Republicans reach the point where they suggest Harold Stassen for President, it means that Ike will have to do his duty and save his country.

Lying here, with the telephone cut off and the orders strict against visitors or work, I scribble these lines because every day I must take pen in hand and write in old-fashioned long-hand what comes to mind. It is a habit from which I cannot break myself nor do I want to.

For instance, I see that John Foster Dulles continues to tell how close to the brink of war we were. I wrote that time after time last April, May, June and there was no question about it. We never did get into World War III because we live in a projection of World War II, but people do not get killed in this kind of war; they may get discouraged and depressed but they do live. It is a novel kind of war but not as devastating as a hydrogen-bomb war would have to be.

Building, Loan Conference Delayed

A new law permits such a fund, and Dziamba will determine after the hearing whether the proposed corporation can operate successfully and properly protect deposits.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two "Salute to Eisenhower" dinners to be held simultaneously at the Masonic Auditorium and Hotel Carter tonight will raise $250,000 for the Republican campaign fund.

The $100-a-plate dinners will attract 2,500 paying guests. An additional 200 Republican ward leaders and 200 high school honor students and junior achievement firm presidents have been invited to the speaking and entertainment portion of the program.

Pro Basketball Scout Selects His Top Five

Frisco's Bill Russell Player In Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—Sidney (Sonny) Hertzberg would make an excellent contestant on the What's My Line? television program.

Sonny is a scout for a professional basketball team—the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Assn. As far as can be determined he is the only one in the country with that occupation.

He has seen nearly all of the outstanding college players in the nation. Today he named the top five in this order—Bill Russell of San Francisco, Sihugo Green of Duquesne, Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross, Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State and Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina. All but Rosenbluth are seniors.

"I'd rate Russell just a shade ahead of Green," he said. "Russell is the best big man I've seen and he has unusual stamina for someone with his thin appearance."

"But Green is the top back court man in the country in my opinion. He's capable of stepping into pro ball right now with any team in our league."

"Heinsohn, who'll probably be the Boston Celtics' first territorial draft choice, has great potential. Shavlik is very fast for a big man and is fine defensively. Rosenbluth is just terrific and has definite possibilities."

An NBA team is given first crack at a college player whose school is within a 50-mile radius of the pro team's home grounds. Players outside of NBA territory go into a national draft at the end of the season with the last-place team having first choice.

Hertzberg claims that Bill Uhl, Dayton's seven-foot center, and Hot Rod Hundley, West Virginia's prolific scorer, are not quite ready for pro basketball's major league. Both are seniors.

"Uhl is exceptionally fast for a man of his size," said Hertzberg. "But I don't think his reflexes are fast enough right now. He might have trouble defensively."

"Hundley is as fine a ball handler as I've ever seen. Maybe another Bob Cousy. But Hundley is a clown and you have to be serious to make good in the NBA. He'd be better off just concentrating on basketball."

None of the top-ranked college teams saw action Thursday night. In fact, the card was the slimmest of the season, partially because of midyear examinations.

In major competition, Manhattan came up with a second-half rally to crush Adelphi 90-76. Virginia Tech limited Washington and Lee to two points in the last 10 minutes to post a 60-49 Southern Conference victory. Hack Nichols' 26 points led Colgate to a 76-62 triumph over Cornell. Texas A&M took the lead in the first minute and trampled in front to down Sam Houston State 75-46. And Morehead trampled Union 122-70 in a game between Kentucky schools.

CHS Basketball Game Set For Saturday Night

Tigers To Take On Lucasville Cagers In 'Booster Night'

Circleville basketball fans—save yourselves an unnecessary trip. The Tigers do not play tonight. They entertain Lucasville Saturday night instead.

The evening has been designated "Booster Night". Any Booster Club member who brings along a non-member will be admitted free.

The Tigers will be fighting to get back into the win column after dropping an independent tilt to Linden McKinley last Tuesday. This was but the third defeat in 10 games for the Tigers, none of which have taken place on CHS's home court.

Circleville's reserves, meanwhile, have run their win streak to eight without a loss. The Kittens have had some tough going lately and had to come from behind to win. But Coach Dick Boyd's boys have put on some real thrillers.

EVEN IN defeat the Tigers have shown tremendous spirit. In most of the contests the fans have been standing up yelling in near frenzy. Many who have never seen the Tigers in action before have vowed to come to all the games this season.

Attendance records have been zooming this season, according to faculty manager Tom Bennett. He said that interest in basketball has taken a definite upswing in the city.

Perhaps one of the more pleasing aspects of the Tigers' attack this season is that the starting lineup has no player taller than 6'. Center Dick Banks and forwards Jim McConnell and Ralph Jones all reach the 6' mark. Guard Eddie Tomlinson is 5' 11" and playmaker Bob-

Novice Race Horse Owner Has Troubles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Serkin, 25-year-old tool and die maker, is having to stick to his job in Detroit, so he can keep his thoroughbred race horse in Florida.

Last September, Serkin won over 27,913 others in a "name the horse" contest at Hazel Park Racetrack in suburban Detroit.

He chose the name "Hititlucky," and his prize was the bay filly. Hazel Park officials offered Serkin $6,000 for the prize but he turned it down, saying all his life he'd wanted to own a race horse.

Hititlucky was shipped to Florida to get ready for a winter racing campaign.

In a quarter-mile sprint for 2-year-old fillies Jan. 3 the filly ran ninth in a field of a dozen.

Hititlucky tried again yesterday, in a 3-furlong sprint for maiden 2-year-olds. There were 14 entered and Hititlucky was last all the way.

Racing officials estimate it costs about $10 a day to keep a thoroughbred in Florida during a winter season.

Serkin had one ray of sunshine in yesterday's race. It was a claiming affair and someone by Wellington only stands up to 5' 8".

Walter Sieverts adds height to the team when he comes into the game. The lanky center is 6' 3". The only other player topping the 6' mark is Bill Johnson, a sophomore, who is 6' 2".

Another substitute who does not quite reach the 6' level is mighty Bobby Callihan. "Mighty Mite" is only 5' 6" at best, but makes up for lack of size with blistering speed.

THIS LACK of height has hurt the Tigers, most noticeably in the Linden game. But Coach Red Courtney's cagers have shown a determination that is worthy of seeing. More than once the Tigers have come from behind to win.

Next week, CHS will take on a more familiar opponent when Chillicothe invades here Tuesday night. The Cavaliers will provide tough opposition.

Philly Relays To Big Array Of Standouts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A host of stars, including Olympic gold medalists, Pan American winners, U.S. titlists and college champions, run and jump in indoor competition tonight at the 12th annual Philadelphia Inquirer Track Meet. But a group of local collegians are the outstanding favorites.

Despite the sizable import of track names, Villanova athlete are favored to approach their Boston showing last week wherein they scored six triumphs in the KofC Games.

Villanova men favored heavily are Charley Jenkins in the 600-yard run, Ron Delany in the mile and little Phil Reavis in the high jump. The Villanova mile relay team of Tippy Maliff, Rowland Simpson, Al Peterson and Jenkins is the choice in that event. The squad who may post wins are George Snyder in the 50-yard dash and Don Bragg in the pole vault.

Tough opposition will come from Mal Whitfield, two-time Olympic 800-meter champion, and Reggie Pearson in the 600; Len Truex, Joe Deady and Joe LaPierre in the mile; ICAA titlist Willie Lee, Charles Holding and Bob Barksdale in the high jump; and Olympic King Lindy Remigio, Andy Stanfield and Pan American champ Rod Richard in the 50-yard dash.

In the mile relay, Villanova will

Jess Hill Quitting Southern Cal Post

LOS ANGELES (AP)—This will be Jess Hill's last year as football coach at the University of Southern California. He will succeed Willis O. Hunter as director of athletics in August 1957, when Hunter reaches retirement age of 65.

President Fred D. Fagg Jr. announced the future athletic setup late yesterday.

Hill obviously will have a hand in the naming of his successor as head coach but Dr. Fagg said:

"We have talked to none about a coaching job at the university. We will organize a committee of people who know the requirements and we will have a selection in time for the 1957 season."

Lightweight boxing champion Wallace (Bud) Smith was born in Cincinnati but now resides in East Orange, N. J.

City's Share From Muny Court Drops Approximately $9,500

Yearly Report Shows Cut In Gross Receipts

Total Business Dips; County's Share Up By Almost $2,500

Circleville's share of city court receipts in 1955 was approximately $9,500 less than in 1954, the first year the court was in operation, according to a recent year-end report.

In 1954, the city received approximately $38,730, while last year the amount was about $29,226. Total gross collections by the court also dipped nearly $9,500 from 1954 to 1955.

However, the county's share from city court cases jumped during this same period. Approximately $2,000 more was paid to the county in 1955, along with about $400 more for boarding city prisoners in the county jail.

During the past year, the city court took in about $5,500 less in fines and bond forfeitures than in 1954. Also, approximately $3,000 less was collected in fines. This may have been due in part to the fact that approximately 700 fewer criminal cases were handled.

NET RECEIPTS to the city of Circleville from the operation of the municipal court fell from $23,780 in 1954 to $14,134 last year. The main drop came from money paid to the city, as expenses remained about the same.

Receipts from city parking tickets fell more than $700 last year as compared with 1954. However, several factors entered into this and other decreases. One of the main ones was due to a shortage of manpower in the police department last summer when the officer assigned to parking meter duty had to assume other duties.

Two of the larger increases in operational expenses of the court turned up in salaries and the boarding of city prisoners in the county jail. In the first case, another deputy clerk was added to the court to bring up that expense.

In the second case, the county asked for and received an increase in the boarding fee of prisoners—from $1.50 a day to $2 a day. This is for city prisoners who serve time in the county jail. This includes meals also.

Two large decreases were noted in the court's expenses. One was for office equipment; in 1954, $1,814 was spent as compared with $280 in 1955. The other was for legal forms; in 1954, $1,144 was spent as compared with $311 last year.

In 1954, $160.65 was paid to the court for use of his private car in serving papers in both criminal and civil cases. This was at the rate of 15 cents per mile. In 1955, $41.40 was paid out at the rate of 8 cents per mile.

The court did a better job in performing civil marriages last year—10, compared to seven in 1954. The court suspended all or part of the fine and costs in 170 cases in 1955 for a total of $3,302.87.

Although required to meet 240 days during the year, the court actually met 205 days, an excess of 65 days.

(Three-fifths of the salaries of the judge, acting judges, clerk and bailiff are paid by the city, while the county contributes two-fifths. All of the salaries of additional deputy clerks are paid entirely by the city. The prosecutor's salary is paid by the city but the county may contribute "as much as it sees fit.")

Women's Clubs To Aid Travelers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new venture called TIP, sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, aims at helping Americans act as good ambassadors for Uncle Sam when abroad.

TIP stands for travelers information program. The federation's president, Mrs. Theodore Chapman of Jerseyville, Ill., said the federation, with financial help from foundations and industry, will sponsor production of films and leaflets which will be made available to companies and government agencies sending personnel abroad.

Judge Holds Up Court's Dignity, Plaintiff's Pants

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP)—Fayette County Common Pleas Judge John P. Case upheld the dignity of his court recently as well as the pants of the plaintiff.

William R. Hunter of Columbus, asking $25,000 damages from a traffic accident, was asked to show his scars to the jury. He took off a shoe and sock to show an injured foot.

Then he loosened his trousers to show a hip scar, but the trousers slipped. Judge Case scurried from his bench and helped hold up Hunter's pants just below the scar line.

The jury awarded Hunter the full $25,000 he asked.

6 Railroads Ask For Rate Boost From Ohio Agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A request for a seven per cent rate increase on freight hauled between Ohio cities has been filed with the state utilities commission by six Railroads.

The railroads asked the commission to expedite the request, so the rates can go into effect by Feb. 25. Railroads represented in the petition, filed yesterday, include the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Erie, New York Central and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis.

The request said the increase was necessary because of substantial increases in wages, fuel, materials and supplies, and for a program of rehabilitating freight cars and buying new ones.

The railroads said the proposed increase would not produce unreasonable charges, and would enable carriers to provide adequate and efficient service.

Jury Given Case

COLUMBUS (AP)—Judge Charles Petree has bound Mrs. Gladys M. Warren, 34, to the grand jury on a charge of second degree murder. She is accused of fatally stabbing her brother, Leroy Glenn, 26.

Lausche Discloses Steps Taken To Halt 'Influence'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has disclosed that he acted several months ago to block any possible "influence peddling" in hiring of architects to design state mental hygiene buildings.

He told the state director of public works, Zoyd Flaler, to blacklist any architects he found "undertaking to buy influence."

"Flaler checked into the matter and made certain that no improprieties occurred," the governor said.

"I followed the governor's instructions and watched to see there was no attempt on anyone's part to peddle any influence," Flaler said.

The governor said that several months ago he heard a Mr. Farmer who was doing public relations work with the mental hygiene department was soliciting architects interested in doing work for the state.

J. Edwin Farmer, who heads Capital Services in Columbus, has been hired as a public relations consultant for the mental hygiene department and has done work for architectural firms.

Flaler said he never met Farmer and never talked to him and that Farmer never attempted to get one architectural firm hired over another.

The governor told Flaler he could bear delay but not "manipulation and improper conduct" in hiring of architects.

"When Farmer learned of the inquiries he protested and asserted he was doing nothing wrong," the governor said. "I told him it was not sufficient that he was honest. I told him his conduct must be above suspicion."

The governor also told Farmer he could not be on the state payroll "while he was seeking employment with persons and concerns seeking architectural business with the state."

Lausche said he understood Farmer has not been on the state payroll for three months. Bill French, mental hygiene department public information director, said Farmer hasn't been paid since Nov. 1, largely because he is slow in submitting bills.

"He hasn't done any work for me since October," said French. He added he understood Farmer since then has done some other work for the department. "I would like to utilize his services more in the future," said French, who is charged with publishing the department's monthly magazine.

Store Burglars Get $700, Lunch

BRYAN (AP)—Burglars early yesterday cut through the side wall of a supermarket, broke open a safe, took $700 and had a light snack before leaving.

His service address is: Pfc. Edward K. Wolfe, US 523-791-09, Co "C" 70th Engr Bn. (C), APO 46, New York, N. Y.

Engineer Board Asks For Huge Ohio River Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The board of engineers for rivers and harbors has approved preliminary design for a proposed $72,800,000 dam and locks at New Richmond, Ohio, on the Ohio River.

A Congressional appropriation for construction money will be asked if the Chief of Army Engineers and the Secretary of the Army approve the project.

The board said the new structure would meet navigation needs of the river for 50 years. It would replace four smaller, old locks.

The board yesterday also approved a plan to restore a caved in bank on the river near the ice piers at Gallipolis, Ohio. The $66,000 estimated cost would be paid by the federal government because of damages suffered in the past by residents of the area.

Approval by the Chief of Army Engineers must precede Congressional consideration of the plan.
